Bellstone Refrigeration

VAPOUR ABSORPTION REFRIGERATION SYSTEM

Pure NH_3 high pressure vapour enters the condenser at (1) and leaves the condenser at (2) as saturated NH_3 liquid. It is further throttled to low pressure and enters into the evaporator at (3) and leaves the evaporator as saturated vapour at (4). This vapour is absorbed by the weak NH_3 solution coming from generator through throttle valve and becomes strong. The strong solution from the absorber is pumped to the generator with the help of pump through heat exchanger where strong solution is heated using weak solution coming out from generator. The strong solution is heated in the generator and then enters the condenser and cycle is completed.
